

CHARLES GARNIER

PARIS 1901

SPRING/SUMMER 2026

By 1901, Charles Garnier established a reputation in Paris for masterful jewelry design. His creations became respected and admired for their exceptional quality alongside contemporaries such as Cartier and Vuitton. The brand remained influential in the luxury jewelry industry throughout the 20th century winning several awards such as "Aigle D'or" and provided long-standing sponsorship for the Cannes Film Festival.

More than a century later, Charles Garnier Paris continues this tradition with the same dedication to excellence and workmanship that our namesake so proudly crafted into every piece. Our designers showcase the influence of French culture and brand strength from those early days while maintaining modern relevance.

Charles Garnier uses state-of-the-art production facilities which combine innovative technology with old world craftsmanship and hand finishing to create pieces that are sought after and sold throughout the world.
